WHAT WE DO

Clodburst's interdisciplinary survivor services experts promote survivor-centered, trauma-informed, and effective solutions to domestic violence, sexual assault, dating violence, stalking, and human trafficking to ensure that survivors benefit from all available programs and resources. Relying on decades of experience, Clodburst provides grounded training and technical expertise at the local, state, and federal levels to government, victim service providers (VSPs), and other non-governmental entities.

Examples of our survivor services work include:

- Facilitated Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) housing rights and compliance training for local communities and national housing agencies.
- Conducted state- and national-level training for VSPs and emergency management to improve support for survivors during disaster response.
- Helped state funding agencies evaluate survivor-specific housing systems and economic stability programs, informed by the experiences of survivors and advocates.
- Conducted extensive literature reviews, program evaluations, and assessments on trauma-informed design, efficacy of safe housing models, and more.
